COUNCIL MEETING.
The lower branch of the City Council will meet to-morrow night at 8 o'clock.
The principal work of general interest to be done at this meeting will be the adoption of a plan to enlarge the membership of Council in order to carry out the provisions of the Constitution and the Assembly.
The Board of Aldermen has already acted upon this measure, and it is expected that Council will concur in their action.

MAYORALTY CANVASS.

MAYORALTY CANVASS.

MAYORALTY CANVASS.
With the approach of the spring campaign, the question of candidates for the mayoralty has arisen. Some time ago it was stated that Councilmen Sampson and Pettit would be in the field in opposition to Mayor Maurice, but these two gentlemen have stated that they would not be in the field.

The only other probable candidate against the incumbent is Mr. D. L. Toney. Mr. Toney, when he withdrew from the race for the Legislature, said he was out of politics, and intended to devote his time to, his large and growing business. His friends have asked him to run for mayor, however, and he has the matter under consideration.

MAYOR RETURNS. MAYOR RETURNS.

MAYOR RETURNS.

Mayor Maurice has returned from a hunting trip to Buckingham county. He was away five days, and brought back with him five rabbits. He says, however, that it did not take him five days to catch five rabbits. He caught other game, but gave it away.

I would want to rub my eyes all the time. I would want to rub my eyes all the time. I was treated by a leading specialist, who wanted me to go to a hospital and have my eyes operated on, but I objected to that. I tried various kinds of glasses and treatments. After buying four or five different ones, I had about given up in despair of ever getting any relief, when I went to Charles Lincolo Smith and tried his method and prescription glasses, which have given me the most perfect vision and the greatest comfort. I can now thread a fine needle, sew and read as good as anybody.

UAYS PROGRESS IS LONCER VERY STOWN

Will Take Many Days Yet to Complete Consideration of Public Service Bill.

A VERY SPIRITED COLLOQUY

Mr. Duke Charges Schator Wickham With Inconsistency, But No Offense Meant.

The Senate Committee for Courts of Justice yesterday resumed consideraton of the bill in relation to public service corporations, but after another long sitting had made but little progress with this voluminous measure. About eight pages were considered yesterday, which added to the seventeen concluded the day before leaves seventy-four yet to be considered. With five more working days for the consideration of the bill, and at the rate of ten pages per day, the committee will have finished fifty more pages, making a total of seventy-five pages, leaving twenty-four still to be considered with the limitation upon the life of the General Assembly at hand. That is to say, unless more rapid progress is made than has yet been accomplished, there is no hope of a report on the bill at this session.

The eminent domain bill, another over which there is a stubborn contest, with Mr. Duke and others on the one side and the attorneys for the various railways on the other, will be taken up at a meeting of the committee to be held at 10 A. M. to-day. This promises to be a lively hearing.

Mr. Duke and others on the other, will be taken up at a meeting of the other, will be taken up at a meeting of the other, will be taken up at a meeting of the committee to be held at 10 A. M. to-day. This promises to be a lively hearing.

SPIRITED COLLOQUY.

Yesterday's sitting of the committee was enlivened no little by a colloquy of some length between Delegate Duke and Senator. Henry T. Wickham, who is altorney for the Chesapeake and Ohio Rallway. At one time the passage between the two gentlemen threatened to develop some feeling, but happly it turned to merriment and the members had quite a bit of fun out of the exchanges between the two. Senator Wickham had stated that he was a clitzen and a farmer, as well as an attorney for the Chesapeake and Ohio Rallway, and that he was a citizen and a farmer hefore he was an attorney. If he had to give up either law or his farm he would give up the law. The senator in his characteristically earnest and impressive manner, dwelt somewhat upon the fact that he was farming on his ancestral acres, where his father and his grandfather before him had lived and wrought. He spoke with some impressiveness of his devotion to this historic old home and its fertile acres, on which he ralsed wheat and sold it to the Gallego mills. This was followed by the statement that the farmers themselves were benefited by what was known as the mill rute on grain.

what was known as the mill rate on grain.

It was after this that the gentleman from Albemarle, Mr. Duke, reviewed what Mr. Wickham had said, and then charged him with inconsistency. "Last week," said he, "when we were here discussing the eminent domain bill, the gentleman from Hanover was here advocating the right of a railway to run its line through a farm or even through a man's dwelling, if necessary. How would he like to have a railway run through his farm?" Air. Wickham replied that it might do so if it would benefit him as he believed it would.

rate was not a benefit know so much about that," replied the Rockingham Senator "It permits the grain from the western States to come in at practically the same rate and compete with ours."

abuse of its provisions, which are rather drastic.

The law may be defined as a companion bill to the child labor statute, for its effect will be to secure better enforcement of that also. The act forbids ablebeded parents putting their children towerk to support the parents who kye in iddicass. It is also useful in enabling the State to get at and punish with confinerient and labor those men commonly known as suspicious characters, who having no visible means of support and no occasion for remaining in the community, are a menace to life and property. Nearly all the safe-crackers or yegmen and the burglars, pickpockets and miscolaneous criminals who operate hereabouts are liable to arrest and confinement under this act.

NORFOLK, VA. Jan. 6.—The British steamship Knight Errant, Captain Kendail, passed out the Virginia capes this evening, laden with 11.000 tons of steam coal, shipped to an importing firm in Yokohama, Japan, but for the use, it is said, of the Japanese navy.

A great deal of interest is being manifested in shipping circles regarding the safe passage of the vessel, in view of the uncertainty in the Eastern situation, and it is said here an unusually high risk was charged.

Captain Kendail expects to reach Yokohama inside of fifty days, and said before sailing precautions had been taken which would render it impossible for the voyage to be interrupted.

GAINESVILLE, GA., Jan. 6.—Thousands of Georgia's citizens, former comrades of General James Longstreet, voterns who fought by his side and under his command during the war between the States, State officials and private citizens, gathered to-day to pay their last tribute to his memory, as his remains were consigned to their last resting place. place, The funeral services were held in the large court room of the county building, and the rites of the Cathode Church were conducted by Right Rev. Benjamin J. Kelley, bishop of Savannah, himselt a soldier under General Longstreet from 1861 to 1804. The easket was banked i 1801 to 1804.

The easket was banked in floral tributes, the remembrances of hundreds of friends and Confederate organizations from every portion of the South. Across the casket was draped the Confederate and national flags. After the ritual of the Catholic service an address was delivered by Bishop Kelley, who spoke of General Longstreet's place in history and his worth as a private citizen.

The procession to Ata Vista Cemetery, where the interment was made, was deleyed by the difficulty in handling the immense crowd that had been unable to gain admittance to the court room.

The escort included a large number of military organizations, camps of Confederate veterans, Daughters of the Confederate, officials and citizens. The commitment to the grave was brief, the prayer being read by Father Schadwell, of Albany, Ga. A voiley was fired over the grave, taps were sounded, and the Erave was closed.

McCarthy Council will meet to-night at 7 o'clock sharp, instead of 8 o'clock, in order to complete the work of the council in time to attend the banquet at Masonio Temple at 9 o'clock.

A. C. Rockeehardie, of this city, has been appointed storekeeper und ranger in the revenue service in this city.

The suggestion that the historic old Herring safe in the revenue office, now about to be discarded, might be secured for the Confederate Museum, made in yesterday's Times-Dispatch, has been taken up and will probably result in organized citor to secure the discarded relic, it is not believed that the government will ask a price for the safe, further than the cost of removing it.
